From the stories of Jonah in the belly of the whale or Persephone in the Underworld to Star Wars, The Matrix and Lord of the Rings, the journey to passionate, authentic living always includes a stop in wilderness places we'd rather not visit. But often the events in our lives don't give us a choice in the matter. And whether it's divorce, illness or any of life's darkest challenges, sometimes we're just pulled onto that path through the dark woods.

In The Butterfly Dawns: Tracing Inanna's Journey through Descent to Rebirth, Sheri uses the ancient Sumerian wisdom story of the Descent of Inanna as the backdrop for her own journey through the wilderness. Drawing on Jungian wisdom woven with her positive, uplifting music and personal experience, Sheri shows us that the story never ends in the darkness. And just like the caterpillar, if we are willing to see the process through, we will emerge as a beautiful butterfly into the light.

"Sheri's music is rich in meaningful metaphor which connects the listener with spirit and soul." ~ Dr. Jerry R. Wright, Jungian analyst

What do you get when you mix one woman, one guitar, vivid stories about living and loving and music that ranges from "introspective acoustic ballads to more freewheelin' honky-tonk throw-downs"? You get a great program for your audience or community.

[Your music] is rich and powerful, capable of moving people to action and tears. There were so many people who spoke to me of their appreciation for your music. I heard great things about your workshop. It is wonderful to have you as a friend of Mary & Martha's Place. We look forward to future collaboration.
